O stone hearted Ganesa, resident-ever of the wall-niche! You have reduced your hapless father to the level of a common beggar, just to feed your cavernous belly! Am I not also his other son? Why don't you have a graceful glance at your sibling young!

- Sri Bhagavan

O Lord of Annamalai! In your hill, on dark nights, herds of boar, deers-beautiful, fierce bears and elephants-huge gather together in numbers great! Thou standest as the epitome of jnana. Thy glance denudes the devotees of the mass of stupefying matter.

- Jnana Sambandar

Soundaryamba became the effulgence, proclaimed by the Vedas and Upanishads, the effulgence that has pervaded all the worlds, the effulgence that manifested through the gaze of the son, Guha (Ramana).

- Ganapati Muni

We bow unto him whose spreading grace is like the friend of the blue lily (the moon), who is bright like the lord of the lotus (the sun), who by his abidance in Brahman (state of pure Being), reminds one of his Father, who is firm like a rock under the Banyan tree.

- Ramana Gita - Ch.18, V.13

Dear fellow devotees,

The ever-vibrant Presence of Sri Ramana Maharshi initiates the fire of self-enquiry in those who think of him. He is the ferry that takes those who surrender to him across the fiery ocean of samsara to the shore where the Self ever shines.

When his mother approached him as her son, proposing to take him back with her, he spurned her silently, replying instead with a short note containing his famed words, "The Ordainer controls the fate of souls in accordance with their past deeds – their prarabdhakarma... ." In later years, she joined Bhagavan at Virupaksha cave and as her renunciation matured, he cleared her of all her doubts.

At the time of her passing, by placing his right hand on her heart and his left hand on her head he liberated her from all bondage and rebirth. Now, she shines forever as Matrubhuteswara.

By the Grace of Sri Bhagavan it is proposed to perform the Mahakumbhabhishekam of Sri Matrubhuteswara and Sri Ramaneswara Mahalingams on Sunday the 25th August 2013 between 08.45 a.m. and 9.20 a.m. All devotees are invited to participate in this sacred function and receive the Blessings of the Lord.
